I. Asthma Triage Algorithm

(Laminated copy provided in toolkit)
Algorithm for patient presenting with shortness of breath/wheezing with a probable diagnosis of asthma

Determine initial treatment algorithm by assigning CTAS level using symptoms, signs and peak flow.

SYMPTOMS	MILD	MODERATE	SEVERE	NEAR DEATH
Breathlessness	While walking	While talking/infant - after, shorter cry, difficulty feeding	While at rest	Decreasing respiratory effort
Talking	In sentences	In phrases	In words	Unable to speak
Restlessness	May be agitated	Usually agitated	Usually agitated	Confused or incharge
SIGNS
Respiratory Rate	Increased	Increased	Often > 30/min	> 30/min unless decreased resp. failure
Use of Accessory Muscles	Usually not	Continuity	Usually	Usually
Wheezes	Moderate	Loud throughout expiration	Loud throughout expiratory or silent	Silent
Peakflow (Adult)	> 100	100 - 120	> 120	> 120 or bradycardia if resp. failure
FUNCTIONAL ASSESSMENT
SpO2 on room air	> 95%	92 - 94%	< 92%	< 90% > 92% (child)
PEFR% predicted or % personal best	> 200 bpm	> 200 bpm	< 200 bpm	Unstable
Time to Nurse Assessment
Time to Physician Assessment	30 minutes	30 minutes	15 minutes	Immediate
Initial Treatment Algorithm
	CTAS Level 3	CTAS Level 3	CTAS Level 2	CTAS Level 1

CTAS Level 1 - Near death asthma - unable to speak, cyanosis, incharge/confused, tachycardia or bradycardia, O2 sat < 90%

CTAS Level 2 - Severe asthma is best defined with a combination of objective measures (FEV1, PEFR, O2 saturation) and clinical factors which relate to the severity of symptoms, vital signs and history of previous severe episodes. O2 saturation < 90% (O2 saturation < 92% child), PEFR < 40% of predicted or previous best, the patient is considered severe and requires prompt treatment and close observation until signs of improvement. In children who are unable to do so promptly, particularly those under age 5, clinical features and O2 saturation are used to estimate severity.

CTAS Level 3 - Moderate/Severe SOB/COPD, frequent cough or night awakening (unable to lie down) but without symptoms and PEFR 40 - 60 % predicted or previous best and O2 sat > 92-94%. Mild asthma is PEFR > 60% and O2 saturation > 95%. Mild asthma can have severe attacks and severe asthma can have mild attacks. Some documentation of meals and previous attack patterns (asthma, ICU, frequent admits) can help to identify high-risk individuals. These patients should be placed in an area where they can be re-assessed and re-evaluated, and the patient or family should be advised to report deterioration to the emergency staff.
